East Central defines change. Every year we have had a steadily increasing enrollment rate, improved technological advances, all while keeping the feeling of being at "home." From our quaint mall area to our walking track around the lake, one may feel in his hometown; therefore, defining EC as home. EC has always prided itself on drawing students in with our simple town. Students come to EC to not be overwhelmed with their college transition.

One may define this experience as genuine. This year's book theme is "Defining EC," and this was no easy task. There are many words to define EC to the common student, but what words would best define EC to a stranger? It is not simple to explain lifelong experiences which occur in only two years. It all comes down to the fact that everyone will have a different viewpoint. Individuals who attend EC will have a different word to describe their personal experiences. The yearbook staff incorporated a variety of words to best define East Central.

Modeling our yearbook after Webster's Dictionary is a great way to emphasize this year's theme because on each page there can be found a word with its definition that is closely tied to daily life on campus. Like any other yearbook, it includes clubs, activities of the year, and the student body population at its best. EC means different things to different people; therefore, we have incorporated everything possible to best describe what EC means to the individual.

We define EC as a lifestyle and so much more! To fully define ECCC and give it justice would take a great deal of time, but this year's staff has done a tremendous job.

Rogers said he enjoys getting to know the student body of ECCC on a personal level. He said his favorite memory from East Central was when the Warriors beat Hinds on a last second field goal. Rogers said his favorite on-campus activity was Spring Spree.

He said he is most inspired by his parents.

"My parents inspire me the most because I want to do my best for them, give them plenty of reasons to proud of me," Rogers said.

He is a physical education major and member of the Warrior football team where he played center and was named to the MACJC All-State Second Team. He was also selected a team captain and received the Warriors' academic award.

In addition, Rogers is a member of Theta Xi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa international honor society and was selected for Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. He was a recipient of the U.S. Motors Endowed Scholarship as well as ACT, Presidential and Salutatorian scholarships.

Bounds said she is most inspired by her grandfather.

"All of my grandparents have always been great about encouraging me to do my best or being there for me when I really need them, but my granddaddy is probably the one person in my life that has ultimately had the biggest impact on my future plans," she said.

Thomas has served in various capacities as an ADN instructor, including teaching in the classroom, supervising students in the hopital setting, assisting students with learning in the skills lab, advising students, serving as coordinator for the LPN to RN Bridge program and coordinating and teaching students in the simulation lab.

Her family has been the most influential on her career as she said they have always been encouraging and supportive. And it's assisting students as they learn that keeps her movtivated.

"As a nurse educator, I assist in preparing our future nurses to be knowledgeable, caring and professional," she said. "It is motivational to assist students in learning new information that helps open their minds and expand their knowledge base to prepare them to care for others. I enjoy being a part of the team of instructors at ECCC that helps prepare students to achieve their educational goals, which also helps our communitites."

In addition to serving as an instructor at ECCC, Thomas works as a family nurse practitioner with Quality Hospice in Philadelphia. Prior to her employment at the College, she served as a nurse practitioner with Neshoba Pediatric Medical Clinic in Philadelphia and Louisville Group Homes-Hudspeth Center of Louisville. She began her nursing career in 1996 with Magna Home Health of Philadelphia.

Career-Technical Instructor of the Year

Thomas Fortenberry

Thomas Fortenberry of Union was ecently selected "Career-Technical nstructor of the Year" for 2011-12 East Central, where he has been mployed as a Computer Network echnology instructor since 1998.

Upon his selection, Fortenberry aid, "I am extremely humbled by eing selected as one of EC's nstructors of the Year. First, the ecognition is due to the success and ard work of my students. When my udents succeed, so do I. Yet the flip de of that is when they fall short of e mark, so do I. Secondly, the ecognition is due to the support and iendship of each person employed ith EC. Without each of us erforming the role that we agreed to erform, none of us would have any ccess."

Fortenberry who teaches courses ch as Network Design and Network perating Systems said he originally ever thought about a career in ducation.

"I first came to EC to be over the ata Management Department urrently known as Information anagement)," Fortenberry said. "I as able to get along with everyone the department most days, since I as the only one in the department. I ft EC after seven years to do some nsulting work. Two years later, I turned to EC as an instructor for e new Computer Network echnology program. It really felt ke I was coming home. I had never ought about a career as an istructor, however, God directs our eps and we have the most peace and lfillment in our lives when we rrender to His leadership. Any ccess or accolades that we may ceive along the way are the essings for being obedient to Him."

Seeing his students succeed is what rtenberry said matters the most to im as an educator.

"For me, as an instructor, the eatest highlights of my career are hen former students are successful. hen a student that was considered 'special ed' in high school, takes the GED (general educational development exam) to gain entrance to EC then graduates from the networking program and continues his education until he graduates from USM (University of Southern Mississippi) — that is a career highlight. When a student graduates from our networking program and begins a career in the IT (information technology) field—that is a career highlight for me. When my students compete nationally, against students from other community colleges and universities and place 1st nationally in their event—that is a career highlight for me. That is why God placed me here."

Fortenberry said he enjoys the interaction with students the most regarding his day-to-day work.

"I truly enjoy the interaction with the students each day. Watching them learn and grow. Seeing them take one step after another on their way to their goal. Knowing that God allowed me to be a small part of that process is what I like most about being in the field of education."

introducing Davis Hall

During the winter of 2011, a building frame was erected, and this frame stood until the end of the school year. Many expected this building, Aaron R. Davis Science Building (Davis Hall), to be average and never quite expected embellishments such as automatic lighting fixtures and other amenities. People have stressed eco-friendly buildings, but no one expected the next one to spring up on the East Central campus in 2012. It certainly exceeded expectations.

After a few weeks of being opened, teachers and students have praised the new building's highly technical advancements, and science instructors are eager to begin teaching with the new resources provided. Projectors will be placed in each classroom that can be controlled from instructors' offices so that teachers can conserve energy. Also, instant Internet will be provided giving students a hands-on approach that will appease many students' learning abilities more than standardized lectures would.

Former ECCC president Dr. Eddie Smith, former Chair of the English department Mr. Ovid Vickers, and former ECCC Board of Trustees Chairman Mr. Bubba Hudspeth enjoy a tour of the new building.

Dear Reader,

During my twenty four years at East Central, I have seen rapid growth in enrollment. The major evolution has centered on technology and the impact of social media. East Central has moved from a few core classes where a chalkboard and chalk were the staples to teaching and learning available via electronic delivery to a very diverse student body. So where do we go from here? Education at the post-secondary level is becoming more important than ever. Our economic system depends on creativity and the development of new and better ways of doing things. Community Colleges and East Central, in particular, are well situated to lead in this new reality. By providing affordable, quality credentials, community colleges can move the needle on the number of citizens with crendentials beyond high school. With access to ever expanding technology, the ability to recognize legitimate information and apply that to life's issues will be the future and community colleges and EC can lead this effort.

Seeing Double

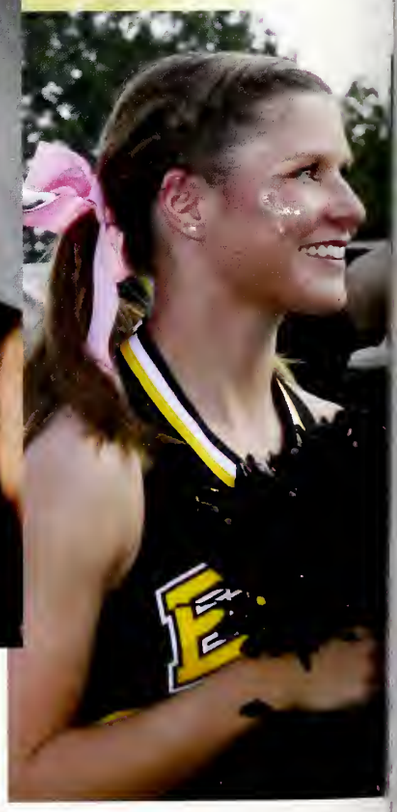
Claire Tadlock



Think you're seeing double? Warrior fans are doing just that! The athletics department at EC boasts not one, not two, not three, but four sets of twins.

Austin and Zachary Conn are graduates of Mize Attendance Center. Both of the brothers enjoy football, and say (at the same time), "Football is life."

Steven and Steffon Fuller are both graduates of Kemper County High School. These twins are positive assets to both the Warrior football and basketball teams.

Kelsey and Claire Tadlock are both products of Newton County High School. They are both talented athletes and an asset to the soccer team. Claire is also a member of the Warrior cheerleading squad.

Katie and Tyler Reeves are also graduates of Newton County High School. These fraternal twins are active in East Central athletics. Tyler is a member of the soccer team, and Katie is a Warrior cheerleader.

Twice the heart and twice the teamwork, these twins bring twice the heat to Warrior athletics this year.

I'm Free

Don't grieve for me for now I'm free.
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took his hand when I heard him call.
I turned my back and left it all.

I could not stay another day,
To laugh, to love, to work, or play.
Tasks left undone must stay that way,
I've found that peace at the close of day.

If my parting has left a void,
Then fill it with remembered joy.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss,
Ah yes, these things I too will miss.

Be not burdened with times of sorrow:
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full I've savored much,
Good times, good friends, a loved one's touch.

Perhaps my time seemed all to brief,
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your heart and share with me,
God wanted me now, he set me free.

~Shannon Moseley

On Sept. 16, 2011, ECCC mourned the death of Scott McLemore, instructor of auto mechanics technology. McLemore, 42, joined the College's career-technical faculty in 2003.

"Mr. McLemore was a longtime employee of the College," said ECCC President Dr. Phil A. Sutphin. "He always had a pleasant word to say and taught many students in his program over the years. He will be missed."

Roger Whitlock, who serves as Dean of Workforce Education and Development, which includes career-technical programs, described McLemore as a "very caring" individual. "He genuinely took to heart the best interest of others –a worthy example to follow. I believed in him completely and will miss him greatly."

One of McLemore's students, Deangelo Shepherd, said, "Mr. Scott was a good man. He did everything in his power to help others, no matter what. His class was one of the best classes I've ever had. You learned a lot in the auto shop. He had a story for every problem you ran into in the shop. I remember this one time, we were talking about safety. He told us the story about his friend who had a car that was really low to the ground and had a hole in the gas tank. One day, his friend asked to use Scott's car. Scott asked his friend why he wouldn't go in his own car. His friend said, 'Because it's night time!' Scott asked, 'What's that got to do with anything?' Then his friend told him about the hole in his tank and that his car made sparks when he hits bumps in the road and that he doesn't want the sparks to touch the leaking gas and blow up. Scott asked, 'Well what makes you think it doesn't spark in the day time?' His friend said he didn't think it did. I thought this was a funny story. We will miss that funny guy. We'll always love him and never forget how he helped us."

When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

When tomorrow starts without me,
And I'm not there to see;
If the sun should rise and find your eyes
All filled with tears for me;
I wish so much you wouldn't cry
The way you did today,
While thinking of the many things,
We didn't get to say.

I know how much you love me,
As much as I love you,
And each time that you think of me,
I know you'll miss me too;
But when tomorrow starts without me,
Please try to understand,
That an angel came and called my name,
And took me by the hand,
And said my place was ready,
In heaven far above,
And that I'd have to leave behind
All those I dearly love.

But as I turned to walk away,
A tear fell from my eye,
For all my life, I'd always thought,
I didn't want to die.
I had so much to live for,
So much yet to do,
It seemed almost impossible,
That I was leaving you.
I thought of all the yesterdays,
The good ones and the bad,
I thought of all the love we shared,
And all the fun we had.
If I could relive yesterday, just for a little while, I'd say goodbye and kiss you til' I saw that special smile.

But then I fully realized, that it could never be,
'Cause emptiness and memories, would take the place of me. And when I thought of all those things, I might miss come tomorrow,
I thought of you, and when I did, my heart was filled with sorrow.
But when I walked through heaven's gates,
I felt so much at home.
When God looked down and smiled at me,
From His great golden throne,
He said "This is eternity,
And all I've promised you."
Today for life on earth is past,
But here it starts anew.
I promise no tomorrow,
But today will always last,
And since each day's the same day
There's no longing for the past.

But you have been so faithful,
So trusting and so true.
Though there were times you did some things,
You knew you shouldn't do.
But you have been forgiven
And now at last you're free.
So won't you take my hand
And share my life with me?

So when tomorrow starts without me,
Don't think we're far apart,
For every time you think of me,
I'm right here, in your heart. ~David Romano

On Oct. 6, 2011, students and faculty of East Central mourned the loss of Kyle Dunkerson, a former soccer player, student, and beloved friend.

Anyone who met Kyle knew that he had an outstanding personality. He will be most remembered by his sweet spirit and his beautiful smile that could brighten anyone's day. Kyle always had fun wherever he went and especially enjoyed riding horses, driving his red jeep, fishing, and playing soccer. Kyle was dearly loved by everyone who knew him and will be truly missed.

We can find comfort in his loss in the words of Isaiah 40:31, "Yet those who wait for the Lord will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary."

Letter from the editors...

Ashley Moore & Raychal Reed

As Albus Dumbledore once said, "Another year has come and gone. At this time, we will say goodbye and good fortune to some of our friends now graduates." It feels like just yesterday that I was walking into my very first band camp, and English Comp I class at ECCC. Time is something that never ceases to amaze me! I never imaged how greatly East Central would define my future and me. I cannot begin to give recognition to those who have encouraged me. Being yearbook co-editor has truly been a rewarding experience. I would like to thank the yearbook staff, the Public Information Office and Ms. Gennie Phillips for their hard work and dedication to the 71st edition of the Wo-He-Lo. I am immensely proud to have been able to call myself a Warrior for these two wonderful years that have prepared me for the university level. I cannot define EC for EC defined me.

Ashley Moore

1 Corinthians 2:9 says, "No eye has seen, no eye has heard, no mind has ever imagined what God has prepared for those who love Him." As a freshman walking into Mr. Patrick Stokely's Biology class, I had no idea the wonderful things God had already prepared for me at East Central. I would define my time at East Central as a dance. In dance, there is a time to lead and a time to follow. I have been blessed with many influential people who have led me in my dance here. I cannot say thank you enough to the teachers, faculty, Dr. Phil Sutphin, and the entire administration, who have guided my steps and encouraged me as I've taken leaps of faith. I am also grateful for the many lifelong friends I have made who have helped me through the turns of my dance. Although my dance has been far too short, the music will play on in my heart ~ the sound of the band playing the Warrior Fight Song, crowds cheering at Thursday night football games, people chattering in the cafeteria on Chicken Day, and friends laughing. I will forever cherish the memories I have made at East Central, and I'm incredibly blessed to have had so many opportunities here. A special thank you to everyone in the Public Information Office for all they've done to make this yearbook possible. Thank you is certainly not enough to express my gratitude to Ms. Gennie Phillips for giving me the opportunity to serve as co-editor of the Wo-He-Lo and for all of her hard work to make the 71st edition a success. The staff would be lost without our "Mom." Whether kicking with the Wall O' Sound Marching Band or performing on the basketball court with the Centralettes, I have experienced many types of dance at East Central, but as the time nears to say goodbye and we all continue the steps of our own dance somewhere new, I hope that we'll always remember our time spent at EC. Through the turns and leaps of your own dance, I wish you the best of luck. "May the wind always be on your back and the sun upon your face and may the winds of destiny carry you aloft to dance with the stars."

In 1928, ECJC had evolved from the Newton County Agricultural High School to a junior college supported by Newton, Neshoba, Scott, Winston, and Leake counties. More than 30 major buildings were added in addition to the original three buildings. In 1929, it was decided that East Central would become a permanent junior college. There were two teachers, Mrs. W. W. Newsome who taught English, history, and Spanish, and Mr. Robert Marshall who taught chemistry and mathematics. Today East Central has grown to an record enrollment of 3,223 students from the 500 students in 1964.

The Wo-He-Lo has been the official yearbook of ECCC for 71 years. Jostens printed the 71st volume of The Wo-He-Lo yearbook with the theme of "Define EC," as voted upon by the Wo-He-Lo staff. Chris Coleman serves as the representative for Jostens.

This year's staff consisted of 18 students. The "yearbook lab" is located under Huff Auditorium on the campus of East Central. The Wo-He-Lo staff is under the direction of Gennie Phillips, who is in her fifth year as an advisor for the ECCC yearbook. The cost of the Wo-He-Lo is included in every full-time student's tuition.

The cover was inspired by the Webster's Dictionary. The Wo-He-Lo 2012 edition was designed using six font families: Garamond Ultra Condensed, Helvetica, Johnson Text, Tempo Heavy Condensed, Times, and Zaph Dingbats. All photographs were taken by the Public Information staff, staff photographers, and others contributing to the book with all using digital cameras. The cover material is custom high glass litho with processed color and gold foil inlay. There are 220 pages in a 9x12 full color book. The Wo-He-Lo is distributed on campus directly after Award's Day each year to all full-time students. This year ECCC printed 2,300 copies of The Wo-He-Lo.

Since East Central's humble founding when 18 freshmen comprised the student body, the College continues to offer a quality education at an affordable cost.

Today, East Central offers coursework for more than 200 academic programs of study and guarantees those credits will transfer to the state's public four-year colleges and universities, according to an articulation agreement between the two-year schools and universities.

East Central also provides an extensive list of technical and career programs.

Thousands of area citizens are also served through the College's Workforce Development Center and Adult Basic Education Department in the areas of workforce training, adult basic education and GED preparation.

To round out a student's college experience, East Central sponsors 10 intercollegiate athletic teams, various intramural activities, and more than 30 student organizations and clubs for varied interests.
